

Schenectady Aug 28 - 1863

My dear friend will excuse my long delay in answering his on the score of press of duties - You can hardly conceive how much time I am compelled to consume in repelling the base calunmies of the Emancipator, Truff &c. - We have had a series of A.S. meetings here, and when the whole town was stoned to the foundations it was flooded with these vile papers - sent to pro-slavery people - They know not whom the lie is - You think I ought to write the ^{restoration} publisher for N.Y. - It is not western more than central - None of our friends are there than here; at least none of the recent converts, who know not what to make of the accusations. - I think it would be well merely to call on the Emancipator, Truff and others of the same class, to prove their assertions that were called A.S. meetings for the purpose of promoting other objects - By the way J. C. Jackson does not write with his own pen all the editorials of the Truff - The publisher does this when he is absent - It's all one - I had thoughts to write an article for the soft Truff showing them up in their basest character, but have decided to attend the National nominating Convention in Buffalo before taking any steps - Then I shall meet Gerrit Smith and those of his stamp who extend to me - altho' they consider me a true representative of the American Society - the warmest approval - Smith says in his last letter that he thinks no person can do so much to advance the A.S. cause in Madison Co. as myself - Well, at this Convention I shall meet him - I presume he will be there — And many other "Liberty" men and women who ^{you} might better say have been, for in this affair I know not what a day may bring my very warm friends and in conjunction with them the most deadly enemies of the Society — What I shall do after I arrive there I know not A good woman of this place — the weak in the faith — will be my companion She goes surely for company and will be no burden — G. L.

Foster will be there — He will not be idle — I have conversed with him and find him as clear as a bell.
He goes with an intention of troubling them and making division or compelling withdrawal — Purport is to be that you may have heard of his full endorsement of G. in the new organized meeting in Hartford — "He is always in the right" I think was the exact language — If nothing is done but to carry confusion among them, the labor will not be lost — I have many warm friends in Buffalo — even among the Liberty Party men — After this convention shall have passed I shall decide what course to pursue towards the little "Liberty" papers — They are a defaced hindrance — Had you not better call upon them to make good their charges or retreat them — If we are gentle people we'll think we consent to the "universel quidstone" allegation — They ought constantly to be kept before the people with their quidstone and apes of a "woman's wrong" and the "divinity of government" I have no farther patience with them they are so impudently wicked — — — I sent ^{your letter} Broadbent several days before you last reached me — I have been away from Seneca Falls — I hope he will bear it — I know Buffalo was good — he is impulsive — and as you say easily led

There are many such and we must bear with them. — They are rather to be pitied than blamed — — Collins did not make use of the A.G. platform to discuss Association.
It was in the Proprietary Convention that the trouble commenced.
Reed and Douglass wanted to qualify the Abolitionists and have an Anti Slavery meeting in the afternoon — One of them merely enquired whether the Proprietary ^{Meeting} ~~Convention~~ could not be set aside for Anti Slavery — Collins became angry and they became angry — Both said what they could not in cold blood — I think R. and D. Should not "have their pay stopped" also. I cannot think they did altogether right — Yet they had them, and had before, had great peacoeation — Collins was not fit for the work to which he was appointed — His personal inxitibility alone, was sufficient to disqualify him — I presume the Conventions got on better without him — In relation to the "pettiness" in N.Y. I don't know enough about it to tell "exactly" what it is — I would not know what it was because Secrecy was enjoined also I will not be laid under any restrictions of this kind — Of one thing I am assured — If the good of the cause demands a revelation it will be made, and also ^{that} the Philadelphians have no great confidence in Father Hopper and perhaps some others — I am glad I don't know the whole affair — I have recd a letter from Gibbons which costly justifies himself in keeping the Executive chair because it was, not the societ but the Committee of 15 that appointed the Board of Quorum with the understanding, and because the Board of Quorum so readily yielded to their (his) claim — far as appears, the Amherst Society will go down unless you take the reins — will you not do it? I would rather lose a right hand than see that Society die — But I will not exhaust my energies any longer in galvanizing a dead cause — Every body else says the same so far as I hear talk on that score — My policy is to keep still, and keep the state looking for better management every day — i.e. for you to resume the reins — Do so, and I will do my best to clear off that old debt and get every body to help —

J. J. May is to lecture here to night on abolition — The place is now locked into perfect fury — I got up a storm and I dare increase it to a tempest — May was coming to speak on Unitarianism and we have induced his friends to substitute abolitionism — Pierpoint is to be here next Friday and I think he will also speak on the same subject. We want to make this place a strong hold for the cause — May and Pierpoint will prepare the way for a fair we are to have here in October — Get on the water — (Ans - Abby H.
